EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Failure of Duncan, Sherman & Co.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Duncan Sherman & Co suspended this morning. Great excitement in Wall street.

NEW YORK, July 27.—The Evening Post has the following in its financial column. The quietness following in its financial column. The quietness shown by the announcement that the banking houses of Duncan, Sherman & Co had closed doors and suspended payment. A clip of thunder in clear sky could not have caused more consternation and alarm. Stock exchange, gold exchange and cotton exchange there was great excitement. The liabilities of the house are given at the inside of $6 000,000. It is admitted that the assets fall far below this amount. The losses which have weakened the house are not entirely of recent making but cover several years the heaviest, it is understood having been in cotton and the next in securities which have doubtless value. It is due to Wm Butler Duncan to say that had he had the disposition to do so the chances of credit, his house was sufficiently strong to have enabled him to have got some assistance necessary to have bridged over his bills on London until yesterday close on to those of four prime firms. As a man of honor however he could not do the honorable course and stopped short the moment he had something to divide refusing to allow creditors. He endeavored to get new capital to meet every new demand which could be possibly got on him but, failing concluded to suspend. The Post will publish this afternoon the following statement to creditors prepared by Mr Duncan and under the stock exchange.

NEW YORK, July 27 1875.

A careful examination of our business and affairs has most unexpectedly that through losses and unfortunate our available assets are so reduced we are compelled to go into liquidation We make this decision with deep regret but the fact is apparent to the latest moment nor most unexampled events having remained unimpaired would have enabled us if we continued business to hazard all obligations and insure a very considerable surplus. Still unwilling to assume for protection of our creditors without the distinction or preference we have this day made a general assignment to William D Shipman of this city, to whose address all letters connected with our affairs will be addressed and to whose counting house, 11 Nassau street we shall remove.

(Signed,) DUNCAN SHERMAN & CO

Great excitement prevailed in the lower part of the city as soon as the rumored suspension was established. At first it was hardly believed but as the fact had been entertained The truth however was soon made apparent by the closing of the doors of the great stone building on Nassau street. A large crowd of people soon collected mainly composed of which however were attracted by feet of curiosity rather than interest. The suspension was the universal theme of conversation in the crowd and made attempts to gain admission into the building but the doors remained obstinately closed. Inside the building clerks and employees were busily engaged in their books. Many of the clerks are silent to account for the general excitement, among them one to the effect that the immediate cause of suspension was the refusal of Vanderbilt was involved in the Ohio & Mississippi railroad, heavily in cotton. In fact is the principal loss. Involvements with Indian railroad enterprises, old and new also are said to be among the losses.

The liabilities are on record to be between $5 000 000 and $6 000 000 Mr Duncan returned from Europe two weeks ago and since has been making a careful examination of the books, and finds they are largely inadequate to the amount of the assets of the capital stock having failed to do so, determined it was best to suspend and make a general assignment

NEW YORK, July 27.—The failure of Duncan Sherman & Co which was announced soon after 10 o'clock, caused the most intense excitement on the street. The direct cause of suspension is due as was established and various rumors, more or less absurd, are in circulation as to the effect their difficulties have been precipitated by the failure of A & W Sellie, of London. Another report says their principal correspondents abroad are the Rothschilds, and Baring Bros In 1873 arrangements were made with the Baring firm by which Duncan Sherman & Co were to be protected in case of a withdrawal of the protection from the Rothschilds. The immediate cause of the failure. They had opened their counting house, when a cable telegram from London decided them to suspend.

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—The failure of Duncan Sherman & Co was reported here about noon It caused intense excitement.

The estimated number of miners in the Black Hills at present is 1 000 and all they are arriving at the rate of 20 or 30 a day

Partizans of the Black Hills Mines.

CHICAGO, July 26.—An Inter Ocean special correspondent in the Black Hills under date July 9 describes from Harney's Peak that Prof Jenney had discovered coal in the country between Spring and Rapid creeks, where he has been working with a party the past two weeks. There is abundance of wood, water from one to twelve inches with a fall of 20 to 30 feet per mile, also a number of fine placer diggings from 3 to 4½ cents per pan from the grass roots to the bed rock. There are 1,000 miners engaged on Spring and Rapid creeks not over ten miles apart, and dissatisfied with the yield, but still 800 although some place the number at 1,000 to 1,200. The gold in the new diggings is of coarser quality and greater quantity than that discovered along Branch creek. Miners are coming in with rate of 20 daily and new patches of gravel are quickly secured. Terrible Hail Storm at Geneva

NEW YORK July 27.—A correspondent at Geneva gives an account this morning of a hail storm which broke over that city at midnight Wednesday the 7th instant about 8 P M, a few heavy drops of rain began to fall and at the same time the whole circumference of the horizon became fitfully illuminated by flashes of sheet lightning but there was no thunder Once only during the entire night was there one terrific clap of thunder and that was so tremendous as to shake the lightning gradually increased in intensity and became continuous The entire atmosphere seemed to be an element of flames and at this time there was not the slightest movement of the air perceptible About eleven small objects flying on the roofs of houses were caught up and whirled around and by a cyclone still more was no element of air in the streets below. The storm came in the deepest gloom mainly from the Jura range and from the south west traveling in that direction toward the basin of Lake Lemar As it neared the lake it seemed to spread out into a fan like form from the front which evidently broke the entire city It did not last much longer than ten minutes, and at the end of it Geneva was wrecked as no army of besiegers could have wrecked it. Not a single pane of glass The storm came in the shape of an almost compact mass of sleet or ice driven horizontally before the tempest. In the first blast every skylight in the streets were beaten in and every pane of glass on a protecting roof was smashed to atoms and extinguished but the city was not in darkness for there were masses of congulated hail which reflected the blue light of the lightning as in the summer. Windows of manufactories and residences were forced from their fastenings, besides having all the glass shivered and the bedrooms shown cases and saloons were thrown open and closed again in a minute or two were left filled with masses of ice far beyond the immediate power of the inhabitants to remove The storm was marked with such heavy charity that the pieces of ice fragments compacted themselves into a solid mass as soon as they fell In the suburbs of the city the interiors of houses here absolutely beaten to powder and destitutions of wood are filled with holes such as might have been made by musket balls Three persons were killed by the fall of a farm house On the immediate verge of the storm vast quantities of small birds were picked up killed by the storm and the bodies of several foxes have been found Geneva is surrounded by pleasant farms, fine woods and market gardens and these have been destroyed in the storm's track Vines have been cut down as with a sickle, and passed over involving the ruin and despair of poor and industrious peasants whose all is now taken from them as effectually as if it had been cast to the bottom of the sea.

BEAVER July 27

William Young

An invalid very feeble sworn—Was in sight of the massacre saw there Lee Higbee Klingin Smith James Mangor Slade John Clark Bill Stewart George Adair Saw flag of truce carried by Bateman to emigrant camp presently two wagons drove down to them saw Lee and the emigrants landing in stuff saw the wounded and children in the wagons Lee started with the wagons and the women boys and girls followed then the men marched out and went up the road to Cedar when they got opposite the soldiers guns were fired don t know who fired them. Witness is a Mormon and very unwilling Don t know where the white men were when the guns were fired heard the firing saw the emigrants dead won t swear who fired, says the Indians kill four women saw the Indians kill a baby in its mother s arms with a knife saw an Indian dash a rock on a child s head and kill it saw an Indian drag two girls in among the Indian crowd, and saw them no more, saw a boy of 13 years on the ground and an Indian dashed a big rock on his breast saw the Indians pursue women and dash against trees and other weapons the camp 30 yards east north from where the women s bodies lay next day went to emigrant corral no property there saw Bishops Dame and Haight on the road going home

Cross examined—I lived in Washington county Indians there were very much excited Washington is south west of the Meadows and in an opposite direction from Cedar City Washington settlements were numerous and the Indians alarmed about the Indians. On the road to the Meadows met Indians with cattle who acted as though they wanted to fight us met one wounded Indian

Defense offered to show here that Lee did all he could to quiet the Indians that whites were in danger of their lives unless they joined with the Indians in killing emigrants But the court held it not admissible This theory existed in the court and town almost universal smiles The people said that fifty Mormons must die to punish the emigrants who had whipped all the Indians in the southwest also that this theory is a confession of the basest cowardice

Samuel Pollock

Sworn—Was at the massacre from Cedar, saw there Bob Wiley, Wm Bateman Lee, Higbee, Klingen Smith, Stewart Claus Hopkins Ezra Curtis and Thos Cartwright Went by orders of Curtis his officer in the Utah militia was there three days before the massacre, when I arrived found the emigrants surrounded on all sides by the Indians, all the white men he saw were about 25 at a rough guess most of them armed was in camp two days when the Indians withdrew from us at night the whites went toward the emigrant camp saw a flag go out saw a man meet it then the flag party went to the emigrant camp and stayed two hours saw the wagons loaded and leave the camp followed by the emigrants on foot came up to the soldiers who marched with them as they turned at angle of the road heard a volley of shots looked and saw a cloud of smoke and the Indians rushing on the emigrants thought when it was consummated the Indians would spare none went on the ground next day saw men, women and children butchered in a horrible manner some of the heads of the children mashed in with rocks We went to bury the bodies and did so the ground was so hard that we could not make the holes deep, generally put them in four feet each, buried them in a gully of the stream

Cross examined—There were between 400 and 500 Indians there my party did not fire on the emigrants, not a shot when ordered out was told by superior officers that the Indians had attacked the emigrants killing many, and we were to go and save them if possible and if not then to bury the dead were told to take guns, shovels and picks Lee came on the ground with two Indian chiefs After the massacre the wagons and stores were taken to Cedar City Smith had charge of them

The testimony of the last witness excites great comment, it being in direct conflict with that of Joel White, also a Mormon who swore yesterday that the Indians did not appear till the soldiers fired and killed the emigrants, when the Indians fell on the women and children

John Sherrett,

A deaf mute sworn in writing answered—Was at auction of emigrants goods, Lee auctioneered witness bought some goods

Developments of the Trial—The Feeling at Beaver.

BEAVER, July 27.—In the Lee trial to day Young and Samuel Pollock testified very much to the same effect, that Lee, Higbee and Klingen Smith were present at the massacre He saw and heard the firing Could not swear who fired Saw the Indians rushing after the emigrants and slaughtering them Witness Young is a Mormon and swore very unwillingly Pollock swore that the party of Mormon soldiers to which he belonged did not fire on the emigrants A superior officer said the Indians had attacked the Mormons and that he would go and save them if possible if not then bury the dead

The defense offered to show that Lee did all he could to quiet the Indians that the whites were in danger of their lives unless they joined the Indians in killing the emigrants. This theory existed in court and town almost universal smiles

BEAVER, July 27.—The greatest portion of the afternoon was consumed in the argument of law points the defense claiming that on cross examination they may bring out all matters pertaining to the res gestæ though not part of the direct examination The prosecution took qualified opposite ground claiming the matter to be of judicial discretion, also that the attempt of defense is to show on cross examination based on direct examination involving acts only that declarations were made showing that the Mormons so acted to save their lives that such showing is not admissible for the reason he who kills an innocent one to save his own life is still guilty of murder These points were considered vital to the whole case

The court said it was a settled rule that a defendant cannot give in evidence his own declarations

Carter—Can the defendant give in evidence his declarations made at the inquest on this question and on the question of correct cross examination?

Judge Boreman held against the claim of the defendant, so far as any attempt is made to draw out such declarations on cross examination where the direct examination has not invested

The defense said they desired to examine Brigham Young and George A Smith both of Beaver and if they refused to have their depositions taken at Salt Lake

The court said it could be done by consent of the prosecution

The prosecution objected and said boys were able to come

Geo. W Bradshaw

Sworn—After the emigrants had passed Cedar two weeks orders were issued to muster a company to go and bury the emigrants killed by Indians Witness took a spade and went to the place of rendezvous Haight asked where my gun was I replied, Do you want a gun to bury the dead? He said I was a fool and did not understand things and told me to go home as I was of no use After the emigrants passed Cedar I heard Haight preach, he said if some old fools hadn't tampered with the Indians the emigrants would then have been in their graves but it was all right, as they had only gone farther into the net After the massacre Haight preached in the meetings that we were to say nothing about it, saw one of the wagons brought back to Cedar full of bullet holes, saw the children from the massacre brought to Cedar Hopkins had two, Bishop Bullock had one Higbee had one some of them were six years old Higbee had two at first one disappeared soon, and he never saw it again The rest of the children were gathered up by the government agent and sent East Ceased to be a Mormon three years ago; was silent till then and left the church when he found it a crime to speak the truth about it

Defense constantly objected to the answers of this witness and laughed at him as ready and willingly

Prosecution said he was glad he had found some one willing to tell the truth

The marshal had to interfere to keep order in the court-room

Lee and the spectators during the trial seized every opportunity to laugh contemptuously, even though the matter referred to the butchery of children and women This matter excited angry condemnation by the Gentiles strangers and officers of the court, creating much bitter feeling

To day Bateman appealed to the court to protect witnesses from facetious impudence

The apostate witnesses are handled roughly, but the Mormon witnesses are treated with ease by the defense

A wife of Lee at the time of the massacre, but now divorced, has just been brought into town as a witness by marshal Maxwell.

A CHAPTER ON WEDDINGS.

A wedding is universally regarded as a happy event, notwithstanding the fact that the relation thereby created frequently proves a very unhappy one. And even rumors of weddings are always gladly listened to. Only let it be reported through the neighborhood that Miss Jones is to be married to Mr. Johnson, "or any other man," and all the gossips beside some who resent it if you applied that epithet to them, will be on tiptoe and in ecstacy, no matter how incongruous the proposed match may be.

It may be the pleasure of retailing gossip concerning weddings that are about to be explains the frequency with which such rumors are put in circulation about two parties in this city, who so far as human judgment can determine are as utterly unsuited to each other as could be imagined. Not less than half a dozen times within the last year, it has been bruited upon the streets and through the country that a marriage had been agreed upon and would be solemnized between the Independent Republicans and the ring. And it is somewhat remarkable that the report, when tracked back to its origin, is generally found to have sprung from some remark made by one of the ring crowd. The object they can have in putting such reports abroad, is, doubtless, to cause Independents in other parts to suppose the movement is about to come to an end so far as this section is concerned. It is the same stupid and very transparent fraud they are constantly trying to carry out through their paper, by representing that Independents are giving up and reuniting with the old organizations, and equally without a word of truth for foundation. The Independents of this section are as firm as they ever were. They did not put their hands to the plough with the intention of looking back, and they will, in the approaching congressional campaign, put their shoulders to the wheel along with the Independents throughout the State, for the purpose of electing an honest, reliable and able man to represent Oregon in congress. They have no personal ends to compass in the election, no personal ambition to gratify, no personal revenges to seek; but, actuated by a sense of the benefit of such action to the community, they will press straight forward, yielding no jot or tittle of the principles for which they contend, ready to co-operate with all, no matter from what party coming, who desire the triumph of those principles more than the triumph of any political organization or party. The independent sentiment is gaining ground every day, because it appeals to every man's perceptions of right and justice and public duty; because it is founded upon, and is the expression of, the theories of political action which have characterized the earlier and better days of every party that has achieved anything in the history of the nation.

IMPORTANT DECISIONS.

On Monday last the supreme court of this State decided two questions of importance to the people. The first arose in a proceeding instituted to try the right of persons to form a corporation in this State for the purpose of banking. In the decision of the case, the supreme court construed Art. 11 of the constitution as prohibiting banking business being transacted by corporations created for that purpose under the general laws.

The second question arose under the assessment law, and the supreme court in deciding the case, held the act of 1874 to be unconstitutional. It will be remembered that one of the provisions of that act allowed the assessor to deduct $1,000 indebtedness and no more from the assessment of any person. Hereafter the assessment will be made as formerly, deducting all indebtedness within the State.

LET US APPLY THE REMEDY.

Under the above significant head, the Mountain Sentinel, published at La Grande, and one of the ablest and most influential Democratic journals in the State, discusses the ways of party politics and the remedy therefor, in the following, even more significant strain:

Some of the revelations recently brought to light in the Dolph-Watkinds libel suit, which was recently tried in Portland, are of sufficient importance to cause the people to pause in surprise and look back over the history of our late economical legislature with alarm. Economy was the battle cry of the people during the election, and the successful candidates took up the watchword and shouted back economy as they pocketed the swag so liberally presented, or so carelessly laid in their way by those who acted as engineers of the job, in favor of the iron contractors. Men, who, by their meek manners, solemn countenances, and devout Christianity grunts during prayer, together with their liberal contributions to the passing saucer, had gained a reputation for piety, which many of our first-class ministers might well envy, have been openly proven to have engaged in bribery and corruption that would put to shame many of the inmates of the prison, for which they were furnishing the iron. The speakership of the house did not depend on the ability or political complexion of the aspirants. He must be sound on the appropriation and agree to any whim the committee should consist of. Fifty-one thousand dollars of the people's money was to be gobbled up, and it was necessary that the "gobblers" should control the organization. It is not surprising, therefore, that one of the presiding officers should say that he believed "two-thirds of the legislature had been bought up to support the bill," and yet all this is called politics, and the people crawl madly to the polls and support whoever happens to be on their ticket, while not one out of every twenty can tell you the first great principle of self-government upon which the two great political parties differ. Democrats everywhere favored old-time Democratic hard money, yet the leaders depart from all the old landmarks and declare for inflation, and the masses will go to the polls and vote directly in opposition to what they have always professed, yet still fondly clinging to the same old name. When a pestilence first breaks out in the city the inhabitants all become alarmed, but soon they become accustomed to see their fellow-men stricken down on every side, while they go unconcernedly about their usual occupation.

No nation ever existed where corruption in high places had become so common as in ours. The people have become accustomed to it and are no longer surprised or indignant when bribery, fraud and jobbery is made public. Fifteen years of rule, by a party so powerful as to defy the people, has taught a sad lesson, and those who have helped support and maintain that party in power now fully realize that it is not principle but merely party name that they have so long and faithfully adhered to. But one plain road to national prosperity remains open. The people must unite in breaking down all corrupt rings, and placing able, honest men in power. Then, and not until then, will the selection of presiding officers be taken out of the hands of contractors who have an itching in their palms to pocket the people's coin; then, and not until then, can public buildings be erected at the cost of labor, and reasonable prices for material; then, and not until such a change shall be made, may the people of Eastern Oregon expect to derive some benefit from State legislation. The remedy is in the hands of the people, it remains for them to say how soon it shall be applied.

John A. Joyce, revenue agent, whose report to Commissioner Douglass is published in the San Francisco Call of the 23d instant, gives Portland merchants a pretty hard rub, and censures those who have in charge the administration of the revenue laws in this State, for their loose and neglectful manner of discharging their duties.

The Independents of Umatilla county will select delegates to the State convention by means of primaries and a county convention. The primaries will be held Saturday, July 31.

INDEPENDENT STATE CONVENTION

At a meeting of the Independent State Central Committee, held at Portland, July 16, 1875, it was resolved that a State Independent Convention be held at Salem on the 10th of August, 1875, at 2 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of nominating a Candidate for Member of Congress.

The basis of representation adopted is one delegate for every 100 votes cast at the last General Election for T. F. Campbell for Governor, one additional for a fraction of 50 or more, and one delegate at large for each county. Under this apportionment, the several counties are entitled to Delegates in the State Convention, as follows:

Baker	2	Lane	6
Benton	5	Linn	8
Clackamas	7	Marion	8
Curry	1	Multnomah	7
Columbia	2	Polk	6
Clatsop	1	Tillamook	1
Coos	1	Umatilla	5
Douglas	3	Union	5
Grant	3	Wasco	5
Jackson	7	Washington	5
Josephine	1	Yamhill	5
Lake	1

The Committee recommend that the people of the several counties meet either in Primaries or Mass Meetings, as they may deem best, on the 31st day of July, to select Delegates to the State Convention.

CITY.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION.—Articles have recently been filed in the office of the county clerk by Messrs. Adam Staender, August E. Miller and C. Neimeyer. The name assumed by this corporation (and by which it shall be known), is the "Portland Social Turn-Verein," and its duration is unlimited. The object of said society is the development of the physical and mental capacity of its members by literary and gymnastic exercises and singing. The estimated value of the property and money now possessed by this society is $4,000, and its sources of revenue is monthly contributions from members. The title of the officers making the articles is trustee, and their successors in office shall be elected annually by ballot. This society is located in Portland, Multnomah county, Oregon.

STOCK JOURNAL.—W. W. Baker and T. C. Baker, of this city, have completed arrangements for the publication of a monthly journal in Portland, to be called the Pacific Coast Thoroughbred Stock Journal and Record. The record of pedigrees will be kept by the publishers in the paper, where it can be inspected by any one, and will be under the direction and control of five of the best and most competent stock men in the State, who will be selected from different localities, and whose names will appear in each number of the Journal. The five directors will act as referees, and will be the judges of all pedigrees that are offered for record, in case there is any doubt in their judgment as to the correctness of the pedigree.

REGATTA AT OYSTERVILLE.—The fifth annual regatta of the Shoalwater Bay yacht club will take place at Oysterville on Wednesday, August 4th. We understand that extra labor and care have been bestowed on the beautiful clipper yachts, to make them present a handsome appearance and put the crafts in good sailing condition. A ball will be given in the evening, for which occasion the best of music has been engaged. It is stated that the steamer Annie Telfair will leave Portland in a few days for Oysterville, having on board an excursion party, who will go over on a flying trip to witness the regatta.

AT COUPLAND'S.—Among the absentees from the city we note the following, who were at Couplans' Summer House, Clatsop, on the 26th inst.: N. Miller; T. Nicholai; Mr. Hortsey, wife and daughter; P. A. Goodnough and son; Mrs. Frank Dekum and children; Mrs. Fred Bickel and children; Miss Mary Karleskind; T. Therkelsen, wife and children; Chas. Smith, wife and child; Mrs. F. C. Smith, mother and four children; Mrs. A. Labbe and son; Mrs. H. W. Monnastes and daughter; Mrs. C. E. Calef and children; Miss C. Kohn; Mrs. J. Kohn and children, etc.

FESTIVAL.—The festival and social entertainment given in Lee's chapel, East Portland, last night, drew together quite a large number of the youth and adults of both sexes. Singing and social conversation were indulged in, while ice cream and lemonade were dispensed among the younger members. The entertainment was pronounced by all to be the most enjoyable affair held in that vicinity this year. Receipts were $70; expenses nominal.

TAKEN IN LUCK.—From an Eastern Oregon exchange, we learn that M. P. Bull, formerly of Portland, returned to Baker City a few days since from Granite mountain near Rye Valley. He is largely interested in silver mines that prospect immensely rich. His company will construct one or two arastras immediately. The rock prospects about $100 per ton.

HEAVY FIRES.—Heavy fires, we understand, have been and are still raging in the timber between Puyallup and Seattle, in Washington Territory. A great extent of country has been burned over, but no material damage to property has occurred yet so far as we have been able to learn. The telegraphic line has been burned down repeatedly, and a gang of men are required to keep the wire up.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U. S. Signal Station of Observation, Portland, Oregon, July 27, 1875:

AMUSEMENTS.

There was present last evening a fair and appreciative audience at New Market Theater. The programme presented on the opening night was, with but little modification, rendered last evening. All that we said yesterday morning complimentary of the performance can with truth be repeated. The bell-ringing was superb, and received with much favor at the hands of the audience. The vocal selections were capital, especially the quartet, "The Good Old Days of Yore," sung by the Allegheny band. Mr Benjamin's performance on the glasses was received with prolonged applause. From opening to closing the several performances gave complete satisfaction, and the audience went away well pleased with the evening's entertainment. Had not the weather been extremely sultry, there would doubtless have been a crowded auditorium. This evening the Alleghanians will give another performance, when we hope to see a crowded house.

BALL AND BAT.

Jake Wortman, captain of the Salem Alerts, took in the base-ball situation yesterday, during a brief stay in the city.

The Arcadians are preparing for their annual trip to Astoria, Fort Canby, and other points at the mouth of the Columbia. On or about the 12th August they will start for the scenes of the triumphs in 1874.

The Nippers of Gervais and the Champions of St. Paul played the return game at the latter place on the 25th inst., the Champions winning by six runs. It was necessary to play ten innings ere the game could be decided. The first game was won by the Nippers at Gervais a few days previous; consequently, a third game is necessary to decide the series.

BRIEF NOTES.

Bell-ringers again this evening.

A pleasant breeze was stirring yesterday.

County court will convene on next Monday.

A regular Webfoot shower wouldn't come amiss just now.

Up to the hour of going to press the steamer had not been heard from.

The Chinamen have got a "corner" on the wood-sawing business. Here is a chance for an enterprising Melican man to capture the numerous wood piles and make a "bonanza."

MILITARY NOTES.

Upon the recommendation of the commanding officer of the post where they are undergoing sentence, on account of uniform good conduct, the unexpired portion of confinement in the cases of Frank Kelley and John Brennan, general prisoners (Fort Klamath), late, respectively, private Co. F 1st cavalry, and musician Co. F, 21st infantry, is remitted, and they will be set at liberty.

THE TURF.

The following horses are now in constant training at the White House course preparatory to the coming fall races: "Eph Maynard," bay mare "Lillie," Glasford's mare "Bellflounder," bay colt "Startle," and stallion "Robert Burns," Lownsdale's mare "Mollie," Pat. Smith's dark gelding "Skyscraper," and Duncan's "Yamhill Belle."

PROCEEDINGS OF DISBURSING COMMITTEE.

Mr. A. B. Hallock, secretary of the disbursing committee, has kindly allowed us to copy from the minutes the following proceedings had at a recent meeting of that committee:

Pursuant to a call of the chairman, the disbursing committee assembled at the banking house of Ladd & Tilton.

Present—W. S. Caldwell, T. L. Eliot, W. S. Ladd, Henry Failing, P. Wasserman and A. B. Hallock.

The chairman stated the object of the meeting to be, to carry out the directions of the relief committee, and appoint trustees for the care of the balance of the relief fund, according to the resolutions adopted by said committee August 7, 1874, whereupon Mr. Caldwell offered the following preamble and resolutions:

WHEREAS, The general relief committee, at a meeting held August 7, 1874, adopted the following preamble and resolutions, viz.:

"WHEREAS, The balance of the fund collected for the relief of sufferers by the fire of August 2, 1873, is not needed for the purposes for which it was donated; and

"WHEREAS, It is desirable that the disposition to be made thereof shall conform as nearly as practicable to the original intention of the donors; therefore

"Resolved, That the balance remaining in said fund be placed in the hands of a board of trustees for investment, as an irreducible fund, the income therefrom to be used only for the relief of members of the Portland fire department who may be injured while in the active discharge of their duties as such; provided, that in case of any serious calamity by fire, rendering necessary the raising of any considerable sum for the relief of the immediate wants of sufferers thereby, that said trustees may use the whole or any part of the principal and interest of said fund for that purpose.

"Resolved, That said board of trustees shall consist of seven members."

On motion, the committee on disbursements were authorized to appoint a board of trustees and take such other action as may be necessary to carry the foregoing resolutions into effect. And

WHEREAS, The Exempt Firemen's Association of Portland—an association duly organized under the laws of the State of Oregon—has been organized, having in view the objects named in the foregoing resolutions, therefore

Resolved, That A. B. Hallock, C. H. Lewis, Henry Failing, T. A. Davis, Peter Taylor and H. F. Goodwin, and their successors in office, be and are hereby appointed trustees of the fund remaining in the hands of the committee, to be held by them for the uses and purposes set forth in the foregoing resolutions.

Resolved, That the chairman and secretary draw a warrant upon the treasurer for the balance remaining in his hands and deliver the same to the order of the trustees of said Exempt Firemen's Association.

On motion, the preamble and resolutions were adopted unanimously.

On motion, the committee adjourned sine die.

RIVER AND COAST IMPROVEMENTS.

All repairs which were ordered last season to be made to the light houses and fog signals on the Sound, have been completed.

Estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1875, for river and coast improvements and repairs, have been prepared and forwarded to Washington. These estimates are of great length and elaborate as to details.

Work was completed at the Point Adams light some time ago—that is so far as the building itself is concerned. As yet the light house has not been inclosed with a fence, and the ground graded. This work will soon be done.

Gen. Michler lately completed his annual report for the fiscal year ending June 3, 1875, of the river and harbor improvements, coast examinations and surveys made the past year within this district, and has forwarded the same to the department at Washington.

Already the season has so far advanced that Gen. Michler will not be able to make the reconnoissance of the Snake river from Lewiston to the Shoshone falls, as was ordered last year, before some time next fall. He will probably start from Portland about the 1st of October.

Nothing has been done thus far the present season toward repairing the breach made by the high water to the breakwater across Pearcey's slough. About one-third of the piles near the middle of the slough have been swept away by the strong current which pours through from the Columbia river. It is probable that the breach will be repaired before long.

Mr. Steffen, the well known boat-builder and contractor, is at present engaged in repairing the dump scows used in connection with the dredger. He will have all the work completed by the last of the present week. Early next month the dredger will resume operations at some point on the Lower Columbia—just where has not yet been determined upon.

Gen. Michler, who is to start to-day for the Sound, for the purpose of inspecting the light houses in that portion of the district, will probably proceed down the southern coast on the steamer Shubrick as far as Cape Blanco to inspect the light house at that point. He will then either continue on to San Francisco in the Shubrick, return to Portland by steamer, or come back overland.

A few days ago Mr. B. Goldsmith, president of the W. R. T. Co., addressed a letter to Gen. Michler, in which he called that gentleman's attention to the fact that there were a number of snags, logs and obstructions to navigation to be found at various points along the upper Wallamet; and asking that Capt. Smith, who is superintending the operations of the snag puller, be directed to proceed to the points mentioned and remove us far as possible the obstructions. In compliance with instructions given, the puller is now at Buena Vista, removing the snags from the channel.

OREGON CITY ITEMS.

Our regular correspondent, writing under date of 27th inst., says:

Our fellow townsmen, G. A. Harding, H. E. Chamberlain and Fred Chapman, started yesterday for Shoalwater Bay, to remain a few weeks in search of clams, fun and recreation.

J. B. Upton and L. T. Barin, of the legal fraternity, and Prof. Rock of the city school, left on Friday with guns, fishing tackle, camp apparatus and canoe, a la siwash, bound up the Clackamas river, and intending to go further than a white man's boat ever went before.

Mrs. Capt. Coe and Miss Rinehart, of the Dalles, are visiting at Mr. Wm. Holmes' for a few weeks, and of course enjoying themselves immensely. Who that knows the place can doubt it? What with the beautiful situation and pleasant surroundings, and the delightful company of their hostesses, it cannot be doubted that their visit will be one to be pleasantly remembered.

Some of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Chase arranged a surprise party for them, to come off last night at the library rooms. It was a complete surprise, they being among the invited guests, and a complete success as well. The Oregon City string band furnished excellent music, and all those who did not engage in the dancing, which formed part of the programme, as well as those who did, united in a silent vote of thanks to the gentlemen who compose the band, for the part they kindly took in rendering the evening pleasant.

THE TALE OF A SUGAR-BOWL.

TOLD BY AN EYE-WITNESS.

(From the Cincinnati Gazette.)

It was during festival week. Hunt was full to repletion. So were the men and women who came out of there. I was in getting A consequential, important chap stalked down the room, strode up to the side-table in front of me, stood his cane by the side of the table, slammed the sugar-bowl back against the wall, subsided into a chair, crossed his legs, and waited. Waiters, full armed and empty-armed were rushing in all directions, but none paid any attention to the chap in front of me. He looked puzzled and out of patience. The fellow in front of him left, and another took his seat. In a moment a waiter was taking his order, but still my friend waited. This, however, was too much for him to bear. He began to utter under his breath, and pound on the table with his saltcellar. In the din he wasn't heard. It was getting interesting, and I thrust to eat watching him. He was getting very red in the face, and commenced to beckon to the waiters, but could not catch their eye. He half started once or twice to leave but his hunger conquered his ire. He now took his cane and began to hook for the waiters' legs as they went by. For some time his fishing operations were unrewarded. He was getting desperate. He hooked a fool, and marched off with a lot of cracked china and broken victuals.

By this time the fellow in front of him had left, and a third man had seated himself there. A waiter was promptly on hand and took his order. This was too much. He sprang on the next waiter who passed, and dragged him to the table.

"Haven't you ordered yet?" asked the trembling captive.

"Ordered yet! That is nice. No, I hain't ordered yet, you thick-skulled aboriginal. Where's your eyes? Hunt's eating-house! Why don't you hunt? I've been hunting an hour for something to eat on this table, and I hain't found anything yet. You bring me a porter house steak quickr'n lightnin' or you'll find out whether I've ordered yet."

The waiter slunk away. My indignant friend turned around to the table, readjusted his cane, settled his vest, shoved the sugar-bowl out to the end of the table, and felt inclined to grow more pacific.

Instantly a waiter was at the table.

"Ordered yet?"

"Yes, I have ordered yet."

The waiter shoved the sugar-bowl back to the wall and vamoosed. My friend looked daggers at the retreating waiter, and pushed the sugar-bowl out to the end of the table again. In an instant another waiter was at his side.

"Have you ordered?"

"Oh! you're very attentive ain't you? How long since you was took? Yes, I've ordered."

The waiter slung the sugar-bowl back to the wall and passed on.

"Look-a-here, young man," said my friend, but the waiter did not hear him, and he finished the remark in an undertone, addressing it to his eyes. This time he put the bowl out to the end of the table very emphatically, and made some remark to the effect that he thought it would stay there.

"Ordered sir?" It was another waiter. My friend looked up with an expression of deep redness, and said meekly, while his underlip quivered and tears gathered in his eyes,

"Young man, don't be hard on me; I give it up. You are too many for me. When my supper comes you eat it for me, will you? Where will you have the sugar-bowl? Arrange it to suit yourself; don't mind me." And he took his cane and departed, a broken-spirited man. The waiter looked bewildered and walked out into the kitchen in a dazed sort of a way. My meal had grown cold long before, so I departed too.

Don't Make War on the Stomach.

If you are bilious, dyspeptic and constipated, don't make war on the stomach by successively swallowing blue pills, strong purgatives and powerful astringents. Such a procedure damages digestion and weakens the bowels, leaving stomach, liver and intestines, after the immediate effect, in a condition of greater disorder than before. That complete relief which remedies of the above description signally fail to afford is obtained by using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. And for the best of reasons. Biliousness is the result of inactivity of the liver, dyspepsia of weakness of the digestive organs, and constipation is produced by both. This genial vegetable tonic and alterative being a powerful stimulus, overcome indigestion by stimulating the secretion of gastric juice, remove biliousness by promoting greater activity of the liver, and thus enable the bowels to act with renewed regularity.

Neglect everything, or anything except a cough or cold. A year's suffering, and too often death itself, may be the result of one day's inattention to troubles of the throat or lungs. Volumes would not contain the mass of testimony that could be given relating to the cures effected by WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

IMPORTANT.—Indorsed by the Medical profession. DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS cures Coughs, Colds, Consumption, and all diseases of the Throat and Chest. Dr. TOWNSLEY'S TOOTHACHE ANODYNE cures in one MINUTE.

THE CLAIMS AGAINST VENEZUELA.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—An extraordinary council of the cabinet members having been called by Secretary Fish, they met to-day at the department of state, continuing in session about three hours. All were present excepting Secretary Belknap, who is absent in the West. The subject of our relations with Venezuela was laid before the council by Secretary Fish, who read the latest communications from our minister to that country, and stated the general facts in the case. It may be recollected that in December, 1872, the president announced that the government of Venezuela had made no further payments on account of the awards under the convention of 1866, and expressed the hope that it would lose no time in providing for the payment of the unpaid balance of its debt to the United States, which, having originated in injuries to our citizens by the Venezuelan authorities, and having been acknowledged pursuant to a treaty in the most solemn form among nations, would, the president said, seem to deserve a preference over other debts of a different origin and contracted in a different manner, and he recommended this subject to the attention of congress for such action as might be deemed proper. In pursuance of this recommendation, congress, in a joint resolution, expressed its sense in regard to the awards of the joint commission under the convention, and the Venezuelan government was furnished with a copy of the resolution, which excluded all doubt of the earnestness of our government in its demand for the payment of the amount due. But there was no satisfactory response on the part of Venezuela. In 1873 the president, in his annual message, said to congress: "It is apprehended that that government does not realize the character of its obligations under that convention. As there is reason to believe, however, that its hesitancy in recognizing them springs in part at least from real difficulty in discharging them in connection with its obligations to other governments, the expediency of forbearance on our part is believed to be worthy of your consideration." Since then our minister at Venezuela has been repeatedly instructed to urge the payment of the deferred installments until at last the Venezuelan government has expressed a disposition to do so, but claims the privilege of designating the particular parties to whom the money shall be paid. To this our government will not consent, the proposition, apart from other considerations, being contrary to the terms of the convention.

The Venezuelan government will be informed of the rejection of its proposition, and unless the money shall be paid as the stipulation requires our minister to Venezuela will probably be withdrawn.

HUMOROUS.

It is a great art to be able at all times to tell less than you know.

Vittles and drink are great humanizers—starve a man and you hav got a fiend, fill him up and you hav got a turtle duv.

A young man in California began to read a paragraph about a mine to his sweetheart commencing, "Yuba mine" when she interrupted him with: "I don't care if I do, John."

"Grandma, do you know why I can see up in the sky so far?" asked Charlie. "No, my dear, why is it?" said grandma. "Because there is nothing in the way," replied the young philosopher.

If you want to bring an American boy up right, appeal to his centennial feelings. There is a lad in Boston whose mother cured him of a bad habit just by saying, "Willie, George Washington never cracked hickory nuts with his teeth."

A gentleman, meeting a Wall street friend, said: "I have just mortgaged my house, and have several thousand dollars to spare. Can't you tell me something neat and safe to go into?" "Yes," replied the broker, "I can put you to a sure thing; buy that mortgage on your house."

An elderly gentleman, returning home from church, began to extol the merits of the sermon to his son. Said he: "Jack, I have heard one of the most delightful sermons ever delivered before a Christian society. It carried me to the gates of heaven." "Why didn't you dodge in?" replied Jack; "you will never have another such chance."

This was the way it happened in a town not far from Elmira: "One of the regular attendants at Central Church is a railroad conductor. He is regular, not so much from any personal inclination for Calvinism, as from the fact that he has a first-rate Presbyterian wife, who keeps him in the way he should go. A few days since one of the deacons was absent, and our conductor was requested to pass the plate. Of course he consented. For the first dozen pews everything passed off well. There was a regular financial shower of nickels and dimes, and the railroad man watched sharp, but couldn't see that anybody 'got away' without responding. Finally he came to a seat where the occupant was either busted or disinclined, for he shook his head, but made no attempt on his pocket. The conductor looked at him sharply, but no cash appeared. Then he nudged his shoulder and softly called, 'Ticket, sir!' Again the man's head wagged horizontally, but the stamps didn't come. 'Pass, then!' whispered the conductor. Still no response. Just as the railroad chap was about to call up the fireman and brakeman to help pitch the impecunious worshipper out of doors, the regular deacon came in and relieved the proxy. The conductor says he believes in running a church the same way you would a railroad train—if a man won't pay, or hasn't a pass, let him git."

A TERRIBLE CALAMITY.

THE TOWN OF MORSCHANSK DESTROYED BY A TERRIBLE CONFLAGRATION—A VIOLENT WIND DRIVING THE FLAMES—TWO HUNDRED LIVES LOST AND ONE THOUSAND HOUSES DESTROYED.

(St. Petersburg (June 25th) Correspondent of the London Standard.)

The disaster which has recently destroyed the town of Morschansk, in Russia, has been noticed in the telegrams.

The fire began about four o'clock in the afternoon in one of the faubourghs, at a distance of nearly half a mile from the town proper, and within a few hours the whole town, over an extent of five versts, was the prey of the flames. A violent wind drove the flames in all directions, causing them to overleap all the open squares and even the river.

As the fire grew the wind became a tempest, and enormous planks and sheets of iron, torn from the falling houses, were hurled as high as the second story of houses still standing. Cases of goods allowed to float along the river were burned on the water.

Some of the papers of the public offices have been found at a distance of sixty versts from the town, and the glow of the fire lighted up the horizon to a distance of ninety versts. The fire spared about a hundred wooden houses at one end of the town, but of the brick buildings hardly ten have escaped.

All the public edifices, with the exception of the school and several churches, have been destroyed. The destruction of property has been entire. Many of the inhabitants trusted to cellars and vaults, but they nearly all fell in. As the fire spread, furniture and other effects were removed to gardens and other open places, but in vain; the flames soon reached them and reduced all to ashes.

Only one of the corn depots was saved. It is calculated that 1,000 buildings have been burned, and that the loss cannot be less than 5,000,000 roubles. About 200 lives were lost and several thousand persons were wounded.

Succor, in the shape of provisions, clothes and money, was instantly forwarded from Tamroff, Reizan and other places, to the unfortunate citizens of Morschansk; literally wandering about the woods or sheltering under carts, having lost everything, and the number of the homeless and destitute exceeded 10,000.

Three days after the fire the corporation of the town petitioned the Government for a loan of 3,000,000 roubles, to be redeemed in thirty years. The official report concludes with saying that the inhabitants support the disaster which has overthrown them with exemplary patience, and it is apparent that the town has already emerged from the chaotic state into which it was at first necessarily plunged.

Rapidity of locomotion, the chief physical feature of our time, betokens also its intellectual tendencies. Men read cursorily and decide rapidly. The daily newspaper is making book study rarer than hitherto. It is felt in ten thousand instances to be distasteful or difficult. The subtle influence of the daily newspaper is telling on our thoughtfulness. We really seem to be approaching the fulfillment of Lamartine's prediction: "Before the century shall have run out, journalism will be the whole press, the whole of human thought. Thought will not have time to ripen—to accommodate itself into the form of a book. The book will arrive too late; the ruling book, possibly soon, will be a newspaper."—Rev. Wm. Fraser, LL. D.

It was the Eton boys who prevented the services of Messrs. Moody and Sankey at Windsor. They had invested their surplus funds in eggs for use on the occasion, and the vigilant superintendent of police discovered it. In company with two aldermen he solemnly assured the mayor that a "breach of the peace was to be apprehended," and the mayor withdrew his consent to the use of the hall. The final destination of the eggs remains a mystery. The statement that a meeting was subsequently held in a private garden which 150 Eton boys attended, and at which there was no disturbance, casts a cloud over the veracity of the agile superintendent and increases the mystery as to the eggs.

The failure of the well and widely-known house of Duncan Sherman & Co., of New York city, is announced by telegraph elsewhere in our columns, as is also its effect upon Wall street. The failing house had extensive connections throughout the Union, and its suspension will have a very considerable effect upon the finances of the country.

There are but few new features in the condition of our local money market, so far, since last week. The demand for loans has not increased perceptibly, and, with a free movement of capital toward the money centers, there is an ample supply of loanable funds at hand to meet the current inquiry; there is no pressure whatever, but rather a surplus of offers to lend, either on good personal or on first-class real estate security. The needed funds for moving our surplus grain of the present harvest are ample enough, and though, as we have heretofore stated, the movement may begin at a late period in the season, unless stimulated by high prices, it promises to be very active.

At San Francisco there is an easier condition in financial affairs, consequent upon a better supply of loanable funds. There has really been no increase in the coin supply this month, since the mint has been engaged on silver, but capitalists are less timid, and the demand for remittance to the East is not so urgent, now that the gold premium is on the wane. The supply of silver is large, both in the form of bullion and coin, and the rates of discount are heavy. Commercial paper is discounted at one per cent. for first-class names, and one and one-half per cent. for second rate; term loans eight to ten per cent. per annum for inside city property. Coin drafts are drawn on Atlantic cities at one-half to six-tenths of one per cent.

The secretary of the treasury will, it is said, discontinue sales of gold after this month, and apply the resources of the treasury to a substitution of silver coinage for fractional currency. The sum of such currency outstanding on the 1st of July was $42,120,000, against $46,350,000 on January 1st; showing a reduction of $4,261,000 since the resumption act took effect.

The secretary of the treasury, in his last report to congress, said that the expenses of the government this year would be $270,000,000, and the receipts $284,000,000, leaving $9,000,000 to the sinking fund of $31,000,000, which would result in a deficiency of $22,000,000. The receipts from internal revenue for the year have amounted to $109,787,000, or $4,787,000 above the estimate.

We have reached the midsummer and harvest season, when trade is ordinarily of the most nominal character, and though there is not much activity as a rule, we are pleased to report a fairly satisfactory amount of business in most lines. While the advance in imported groceries and dry goods has not been commensurate with that in breadstuffs and some other of our home products there is quite a decided tendency to higher prices than prevailed during the greater portion of last year for nearly all that our people have to buy, as well as what they have to sell.

Miscellaneous.

There are now on store in this city over 600,000 lbs wool awaiting sale or shipment.

The stock of coffee in first hands at all Atlantic and Gulf ports July 9th was 62,878 bags, against 119,732 bags same time last year.

The Pacific Mail Company inaugurated their new line to British Columbia on the 22d by the departure of the Vasco de Gama from San Francisco for Victoria. She will connect at Victoria with steamers for Puget Sound. The steamer Costa Rica will follow on the 31st.

The exports of wheat from California during the 12 months ended June 30 were 8,650,000 centals, and of flour 480,970 bbls. Reducing the latter to wheat, there was a total of 10,122,910 centals, equal to 16,704,650 bushels of wheat, having a money value of $15,917,385. Adding to the receipts at San Francisco 5,400,000 centals for home consumption during the year and 498,072 centals stock in the interior July 1, 1875, the total crop of the State for the season, 1874-5, is placed at 17,077,345 centals, or 28,462,243 bushels.

The profits of the Consolidated Virginia mine during the first six months of this year were $4,968,000, or over $27,600 per day, including Sundays.

The exports from the leading seaboard ports during the week ending July 15th, include 2,653 bbls. of pork, 1,735,539 pounds of lard, 4,709,572 pounds of bacon, 1,053,123 bushels of wheat, 247,730 bushels of corn, 3,961 bushels of peas, 68,485 barrels of flour.

Below will be found the amount of grain in sight in the States and Canada, July 3, 1875: Wheat, 8,071,833 bushels; corn, 7,757,373 bushels; oats, 2,246,416 bushels; rye, 97,643 bushels; barley, 23,615 bushels.

Chicago elevators at the commencement of business Monday, July 12th, contained 1,424,254 bushels of wheat, 2,782,759 bushels of corn, 325,907 bushels of oats, 1,191 bushels of rye, and 7,683 bushels of barley, making a grand total of 4,499,077 bush., against 5,000,570 bushels one week before, and 3,472,892 bush. at this period last year.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—Our local market in this cereal received a little "set back" to-day by the telegraphic report from San Francisco, that that market had declined to 9.26½ for shipping grain, and that advices indicated that it was only on certain grades that the reduction had taken place, and at 1 P. M. to-day the quotations in the general market were about as yesterday. Our market is unchanged, and almost entirely nominal at $1 20 offered and $1 25@2 asked. The English market has evidently suffered a decline, and latest Liverpool quotations ex warehouse are 10s 2d per cental. We hear of but few sales in the State.

FLOUR—The price current in our local market is doubtless rather below the proportionate rates at which wheat can be purchased, and shows no tendency to decline, but is firm at $5 @ bbl for standard extras, $5 50 for outside and country brands, and $5 for superfine.

OATS—But few lots are now reaching this market, and all are about taken to supply the local demand. Current quotations are 65@70c ₰ bushel, with chances for an advance of 2 or 3c for prime lots.

HAY—A full supply in the market, quotable at $10@11 ₰ ton for fair to best timothy, loose, and $11 baled.

POTATOES—The market is in fair supply at 75c@$1 ₰ bushel.

ONIONS—There are but few lots in the market, quotable at 2½ ₰ lb, nominally.

APPLES, DRIED—The demand is hardly so active, and receipts have somewhat fallen off. The out-going steamer to-day carried none. Quotations are nominal at 7½@8c.

BACON—There is an improved demand in the local market, and, without any advance in quotations, sales are freer at 12½@12c ₰ lb for sides, 12½@13c for hams, and 9@10c for shoulders.

EGGS—There is an active demand for fresh laid, and a decline in the volume of receipts. The market is firm at 30c ₰ doz.

LARD—Good Oregon made is worth 16c ₰ lb in kegs or tins, and is in brisk demand.

BUTTER—We quote fair to choice roll at 22@25c ₰ lb, extra print for table use, 30@35c; common solid 18@20c.

CHICKENS—The market is in liberal supply; quotations for full grown $4 25@5 50 per dozen; spring, $2 50@3 75.

BEEF—Cattle—Some very fine arrivals have been noticed during the week, and the market is supplied with an excellent stock. Slaughterers' prices are $2 75@4 25 per cwt. neat, or $1 75@2 50 on foot.

MUTTON SHEEP—The demand is light at $2@2 75 per head.

DRESSED HOGS—There is some inquiry for the local trade at 6½@6½c ₰ lb.

HIDES AND FURS—Prices for hides are still down, on account of the many damaged lots reaching the market. Undamaged are quoted at 15c ₰ lb for dry, deer hides 6c for green; calfs, 6@10c; elk, 8@9c ₰ lb; deer, 18@35c ₰ ₰, dried, and 50c for a piece, green; mink skins each, $1 50; otter, $1@5; beaver, 75c@$1.

WOOL—The receipts so far during the week have been much less than for the corresponding days of last week. Buyers have about gathered up all choice lots on the market which were offered at current rates, and, in the absence of encouraging advices from abroad, are doing but little. Quotations are nominally unchanged.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamships California and Cassie Telfair will sail for northern ports next week early.

The Guerie Telfair brought from Puget Sound 37 bales of wool, 387 barrels of flour and 150 tons of coal.

The bark Strathcoden is now at Columbia City. She will probably complete her cargo for Australia this week.

The brig Sea Waif reached her berth at Flanders' dock early this morning, and began to discharge her inward cargo.

The bark Forward still lies at the North Portland mills, but is nearly ready to go to sea.

The steamship John L. Stephens, about due from San Francisco, had not arrived at a late hour this evening.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and Mandrake with the iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or disease, whose action they destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions, and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.
